

A law has been passed to ensure that my family time remains just that. I can not believe that the FCC has nothing better to do than worry that telemarketers are not allowed to invade my home with their unwanted telephone calls. If you want them to continue to call your homes in the evening than so be it. I'm currently paying $12.52 in FCC charges, portability surcharge and Federal Surcharges totaling $1.82. Perhaps you should be paying for my precious time being wasted everytime the phone rings after 6:00 p.m.
